The workshops will include a series of group exercises aimed at shaping several of the core themes established from the first public exhibition.

Each session will run the same exercise to ensure that all the attendees are able to tackle all themes effectively, therefore you only need to attend one workshop. We will break each session down into manageable group discussions and activities before presenting everyone's analysis to the wider group.

We're keen to ensure that every session is well-sized, so please let us know the slot you and your group would like to attend.

Please note that you need to sign up to the event in order to attend.

You can sign up for a workshop by following details at:

<http://tiny.cc/murphysyard>

These workshops will directly feed into the next public consultation events scheduled for later this year.

If in the meantime you have any feedback, questions, or ideas, then please get in touch at:
